

Reya HIPAA Privacy Policy

At Reya, we are committed to protecting the privacy and security of our patients' protected health information (PHI) in compliance with the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA). This Privacy Policy explains how we use, disclose, and safeguard your information.

Our Commitment to Privacy

Your privacy is important to us. We maintain safeguards to protect your health information and ensure its confidentiality.

Information We Collect

We collect health information from you, your healthcare providers, and others involved in your care. This information may include medical history, treatment records, insurance details, and other related information.

How We Use Your Information

We may use your health information for treatment, payment, healthcare operations, and other purposes permitted or required by law. These uses include coordinating care, billing for services, and improving the quality of our healthcare services.

Disclosure of Information

We may share your information with healthcare providers, insurers, and business associates who support our operations. We may also disclose information when required by law, such as for public health activities or law enforcement purposes.

Your Rights

You have the right to access, amend, and receive a copy of your health information. You may also request restrictions on certain uses and disclosures and request an accounting of disclosures.

Safeguards

We implement administrative, physical, and technical safeguards to protect your health information against unauthorized access, disclosure, alteration, or destruction.

Changes to This Policy

We may update this HIPAA Privacy Policy from time to time. Any updates will be posted on our website with the revised effective date.
